Security Academy Manager

Senior Training and Development Specialist Robert Lowrey oversees the Training Department at USA's corporate Headquarters. Besides managing day to day Academy operations, Robert coordinates training and project requests from branches throughout the U.S. Robert is also responsible for developing state specific training that has been approved by states such as California, North Carolina, Virginia, Connecticut, and Vermont. Robert personally delivers training to clients and branches throughout the U.S. in a wide range of subjects, including Security Officer, Supervisory, Management and Sales training.

When Robert came to U.S. Security Associates in 2001 he had already gained a life time of work experience; not only as a professional teacher/instructor, but also as a businessman. Robert has been involved with Martial Arts all of his life, and began teaching professionally in 1981. In 1985 he founded "The Women's Course", a self defense course designed specifically for women, which he continues to teach throughout the Atlanta area. Also in 1985, Robert began teaching Self Defense as an accredited Physical Education course at a local University, which he continues to this day. In 1991 he was appointed Regional and Technical Director of an International Martial Arts Organization. There, Robert was responsible for hiring, teaching, and training instructors and developing training curriculum on both a National and International level. Robert has conducted seminars worldwide and has conducted training for Atlanta area law enforcement agencies and military personnel at Ft. Benning and at Ft. McPherson in Georgia.

Robert entered the security business in 1988, working special event security for major venues and various events around Atlanta. Robert then "crossed over" into contract security in 1998, and has worked residential, corporate, industrial and mobile patrol.

Robert joined U.S Security first as a security officer, then team leader and later acting site supervisor. In 2004 he was asked to join the newly born U.S.A. Security Academy as one of it's first Training Specialists.

Robert was promoted to Security Academy Manager in 2008. Robert's stated goal is to provide outstanding service for the field, and to constantly work to improve both the scope and quality of training offered.
